A massive earthquake measuring 8.0 on the Richter scale hit Wenchuan, Sichuan Province, China in mid-afternoon on May 12th. A large area, including a number of neighboring provinces, has been seriously affected. Despite intense rescue effort, confirmed death toll over 32,476 and estimated to reach as high as 50,000. Over 220,000 people were injured, and more than 5 million people are homeless. Many school children were lost in amass in the collapsed school building. The Chinese community in Pittsburgh metropolitan region has organized donations for Rebuilt-A-School Campaign (RASC) to help rebuild schools, and provide scholarship and financial aid to school-aged children victims.
